Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chang et al. (Pat No: U.S 6,584,459) hereinafter "Chang"

Art Unit: 2168

For claim 1, Chang teaches “a method of searching unstructured data stored in a database” ([Col. 7, lines 54-67, Col. 10, lines 10-18, Col. 11, lines 34-40]), the method comprising:

storing unstructured data in a column of a database table” ([Col. 3, lines 26-Col. 4, lines 18, Col. 7, lines 45-Col. 8, lines 43] where Chang’s teaches of storing XML document reads on applicant’s claim language);

“allowing a user to identify elements in the unstructured data as indexed elements”([Col. 14, lines 51-Col. 15, lines 1-10, fig. 4])

“ in response to user-identified elements, creating an intermediate index into the unstructured data from the identified elements” ([Col. 8, lines 10-17]) and allowing a user to create queries on the unstructured data using the indexed elements” (Col. 8, lines 10-17, Col. 20, lines 5-40).

For claim 2, Chang teaches “wherein the queries specify at least one value and an operation that is to be performed on an identified element” ([Col. 2, lines 61-67 Col. 7, lines 46-Col. 8, lines 40, Col. 9, lines 11-28])

For claim 3, Chang teaches “wherein the queries further include a start date and an end date” ([Col. 19, lines 1-14, Col. 19, lines 56-64] wherein Chang’s teaches of date and end/start, reads on applicants claim language)

Application/Control Number: 10/731,604
Art Unit: 2168

For claim 4-5, Chang teaches "wherein the unstructured data..." ([Col. 8, lines 18-42, Col. 9, lines 19-28, Col. 12, lines 63-Col.13, lines 40] wherein Chang teaches storing XML in tables, thus teaches are synonymous)

For claim 6, Chang teaches "wherein XML fields of the unstructured data are filled with transaction data from a database transaction based on a predefined mapping to multiple data sources"([Col. 2, lines 18-28])

For claim 7, Chang teaches "wherein the multiple data sources are comprise multiple tables of a database" ([Col. 2, lines 29-40] Chang's teaches of plurality of databases and tables, reads on applicant's claim language)

For claim 8, Chang teaches "wherein the unstructured data is part of an electronic record stored in a common repository of electronic records that provides an audit trail that cannot be altered or disabled by users of the system" ([Col. 8, lines 19-40])

For claim 9, Chang teaches "a method of searching XML data stored in a column of a database table in character large object (CLOB) format"([Col. 8, lines 18-42, Col. 12, lines 63-Col.13, lines 40], the method comprising:

"storing the XML data in the column of the database table, wherein the XML data comprises a first plurality of XML elements that conform to a first data type definition (DTD) and a second plurality of XML elements that conform to a second DTD"([Col. 8, lines 19-40, Col. 9, lines 14-28, Col. 10, lines 10-18, Col. 12, lines 35-48])

Art Unit: 2168

"allowing a user to identify elements from the first and second plurality of XML elements in XML data as indexed elements"([Col. 14, lines 51-Col. 15, lines 1-10, fig. 4])

" in response to user-identified elements, creating an intermediate index into the XML data from the identified elements" ([Col. 8, lines 10-17]) and allowing a user to create queries on the unstructured data using the indexed elements" (Col. 8, lines 10-17, Col. 20, lines 5-40).

For claim 10, Chang teaches "wherein the first and second DTDs include first and second XML elements, respectively, that share a common name but represent different types of data and wherein the user can create a first indexed element that represents the first XML element and not the second XML element and a second indexed element that represents the second XML element and not the first XML element" ([Col. 8, lines 19-40, Col. 9, lines 14-28, Col. 10, lines 10-18, Col. 12, lines 35-48])

For claim 11, Chang teaches "a computer system for searching unstructured data stored in a database" ([Col. 7, lines 54-67, Col. 10, lines 10-18, Col. 11, lines 34-40]), the computer system comprising:

"a processor" ([Col. 6, lines 15-27]);

"a database" ([Col. 6, lines 15-27 Col. 7, lines 54-67, Col. 10, lines 10-18, Col. 11, lines 34-40])

Application/Control Number: 10/731,604
Art Unit: 2168

"a computer-readable memory coupled to the processor, the computer-readable memory configured to store a computer program"([Col.6, lines 54-Col. 7, lines 2]) wherein the processor is operative with the computer program to store unstructured data in a column of a database table" ([Col. 3, lines 26-Col. 4, lines 18, Col.7, lines 45-Col. 8, lines 43])

"allow a user to identify elements in the unstructured data as indexed elements" ([Col. 14, lines 51-Col. 15, lines 1-10, fig. 4]

"in response to user-identified elements, create an intermediate index into the unstructured data from the identified elements"([Col. 8, lines 10-17]) and allow a user to create queries on the unstructured data using the indexed elements" (Col. 8, lines 10-17, Col. 20, lines 5-40).

For claim 12, this claim is rejected on grounds corresponding to the arguments given above for rejected claim 2 and is similarly rejected.

For claim 13, this claim is rejected on grounds corresponding to the arguments given above for rejected claim 4 and is similarly rejected.

For claim 17, this claim is rejected on grounds corresponding to the arguments given above for rejected claim 2 and is similarly rejected.

For claim 18, this claim is rejected on grounds corresponding to the arguments given above for rejected claim 4 and is similarly rejected.

Response To Arguments

3. Applicant's argument filed October 17, 2006 has been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The examiner respectfully traverses applicant's arguments.

As per claim 1, applicant argued that Chang's teachings does not include "unstructured data". Applicant went further to explained "unstructured data as a well-formed XML document stored...". However, applicant also admitted that Chang's teachings include

XML documents. Similarly, Col. 14, lines 31-37 of Chang's teachings also includes storing of XML documents, which emphasizes the fact that its not bound to just one DTD, similar to applicants emphasis on the fact that XML data could be stored to a variety of DTDs.

Applicant also argued that Chang's teachings does not include "intermediate index into unstructured data in response to user-identified elements". On the contrary fig.4, step7 of Chang's teachings includes creating index based on users input. Thus teachings are synonymous.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action.
